If a company's orders never change, promise dates are always 100% accurate and their warehouse or distribution center runs like a finely oiled machine, there would be no need to improve collaboration with their suppliers and carriers. In reality, most companies are struggling to achieve visibility and control over their supply chains to effectively manage their cost of goods and consistently meet the expectations of internal and external customers.

Kuebix's Collaboration Portals enable shippers to work together with their suppliers (vendors) and carriers through a cloud-based portal to dynamically plan and execute their logistics operations collaboratively, maximizing communication between all parties.

COLLABORATION WITH SUPPLIERS

The Kuebix Collaboration Portals allow shippers to communicate with their suppliers on a common platform. This reduces the risk of manual errors and oversights, as well as increases time savings. Shippers can release orders out to their suppliers, and receive back promise dates, statuses on order changes or short shipments and confirmations on POs approved for shipment. The Collaboration Portals also provide a way for suppliers to easily access shipping documents produced by the customer including parcel labels and BOLs. All of these interactions are documented in the portal and can be referenced to troubleshoot incorrect deliveries and other issues as they arise.

COLLABORATION WITH CARRIERS

Collaboration Portals enable carriers to view and update the information which the shipper and suppliers are accessing. In the portal, carriers can confirm delivery dates on inbound shipments as well as make changes to shipment schedules. This allows the shipper to always have visibility to the delivery status of their orders. And by implementing the modular portal Dock Scheduler in tandem with the Collaboration Portals, shippers can give carriers the ability to schedule appointments directly at their docks. This level of collaboration ensures that the highest level of visibility is always being achieved.

COLLABORATION PORTALS BENEFITS

- Increase efficiency of inbound shipping across the supply chain
- Have complete visibility to shipments and shipment schedules in real-time
- Give suppliers and carriers the tools they need to plan more effectively
